PENROSE TRICK TO GET MONEY

Postponement of Platform Making Schemes to Fool People

LIQUOR THE CHIEF DIFFICULTY

Senator Hopes That Rum Dealers and Manufacturers Will Contribute Liberally to His Campaign Now, And He May Then Issue a Hypocritical Anti-Liquor Pledge.

Money politics is back of the repeated postponements of the framing of a platform for the Republican state campaign. The longer the Penrose machine delays the promulgation of a platform, the greater becomes the opportunity to squeeze funds out of the rum interests upon whom the machine is depending to finance the campaign for Penrose and the state ticket.

Originally the date set for framing a state platform was June 3, when the Republican state committee met for organization at Harrisburg. By decree from Penrose's office in Philadelphia, the platform making was postponed until July 15, notwithstanding the fact that both the Washington and Democratic committees promptly went before the people of the state with their declarations of principles.

Last week there was another decree for a postponement of the Republican platform, after a perfunctory meeting of a committee that was appointed by Penrose's man, State Chairman Crow, for the ostensible purpose of framing the document. The date now set is August 26, and that will give over two months more in which to apply the screws to the rum men.

Liquor "Chief Difficulty"

Press agents of the machine have for weeks been busy spreading reports that the "chief difficulty" in framing a platform has been a "division of opinion" over the local option question. Both the Washington and Democratic platform having declared for local option, the brewery and distilling interests have the Republican platform alone to depend upon for support against local option, and the mere possibility that Penrose might order a plank in favor of local option is enough to give them a chill sufficient to shake all the loose coin out of their clothes.

That the rum interests will be "good for" considerably more than a million dollars for the machine campaign in Pennsylvania this fall has been current report in political circles for months past. In fact, machine politicians have freely declared that the brewery, distilling and allied interests will produce $2,000,000 for the fight, if need be.

Brewers Will Come Down.

The Pennsylvania State Brewers' association is in position to contribute $1,000,000 itself. The association annually assesses its members 5 cents a barrel on all beer brewed which produces a sum of $250,000 yearly, which is expended in what the officers of the association politely term "educational work." As the amount of "educational work" in behalf of Penrose and the state ticket, and for the election of a senate and house of representatives at Harrisburg under liquor control, will be greater than ever before, it may be necessary for the association to levy extra assessments. Three extra 5-cents-per-barrel assessments would raise the "educational" funds of the brewers' association to $1,000,000.

Distillers Have Separate Fund.

The whisky distilling interests, represented by Jim Mulvihill, have a separate war fund, and Governor Tener's man Friday, Chester P. Ray, was recently placed in charge of organizing all the allied businesses which are indirectly connected with the rum trade, for contributing and "educational" purposes.

The advantages of keeping these various producing elements on a hot saddle for a considerable period of time are apparent to even the most inexperienced of the machine's campaign managers. The larger the fat spot is on the spit, the greater the amount of drippings in the pan.

Chairman Detrich's Statement.

In a statement issued Saturday, State Chairman Detrich, of the Washington party, voiced the opinion that is held in all parties over the tactics which Penrose and his assistants are pursuing in postponing the adoption of a platform. He said:

"Evidently the postponements have been for the purpose of giving the Penrose machine all the time it wants to conduct its canvass for funds among the liquor interests of the state and obtain a great deal of money which otherwise might be denied after the adoption of the platform which will, no doubt, contain a favorable local option plank.

"Penrose has already said that the platform will be acceptable both to him and Dector Brumbaugh, which means nothing else than that it will be arranged to please both the liquor people and the friends of local option, if this be possible.

"There is little doubt that between now and the issuing of the Republican platform Penrose will complete his thorough understanding with the liquor ring."

REPORTED DEAD

Paul Dougherty Said to Have Met Death in Chicago.

It was reported in town last evening that Paul Dougherty, formerly of Clearfield, had been found dead in a box car in Chicago.

The rumor is to the effect that Paul had entered the car and it had been locked, not being opened for five days. Paul was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty of the Ridges.

WILL HELP PUNISH RECKLESS MOTORISTS

The Lancaster Automobile Club Takes Commendable Action

Local motorists are respectfully asked to read and ponder over the following resolutions adopted by the Lancaster Automobile club:

"Resolved, That in view of the many automobile accidents that are occurring daily and the apparent recklessness displayed by automobile drivers, we, the Lancaster Automobile club, request our members to abide with all the regulations of the law providing for the safety of the public, and urge on every motorist to do the same, according to all users of the roads the free and safe enjoyment of all the rights to which they are entitled. Be it further

"Resolved, That the Lancaster Automobile club will co-operate with the public officials, to the extent of furnishing information concerning reckless violators of the law, whether they be members of the club or not. And be it further

"Resolved, That the club will not defend the acts of a reckless violator of the law, but will do all in its power to further the interests of a member unjustly and unfairly accused, after his case has been thoroughly investigated."

"PRISONER OF ZENDA"

A Fine Picture at New Opera House Last Night.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" shown at the New opera house on Monday evening, was considered by many to be the best picture ever shown in Clearfield. James K. Hackett, in the leading role, plays a difficult part exceptionally well, and he is ably supported by a company of real artists.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" was Anthony Hope's big success. It was dramatized by Daniel Frohman, and wherever it has been shown it has delighted the picture-loving public. In this play the settings are superb, even the minute details being carefully worked out. Some of the landscape scenes are especially beautiful.

These pictures were shown at the opera house last evening to a capacity house. The pictures will be shown again this evening and should be seen by all who like an exceptional play in motion pictures.

Marriage Licenses.

Sparing No Pains.

"Would you come to dinner next Sunday?" said Mr. Crocicots.

"Why, this is the fourth time in two weeks you have invited me to dinner. It's exceedingly kind of you."

"That's all right. We have to humor our cook in every way possible. She says she likes to hear you recite and sing comic songs."—Pittsburgh Press.

ALIENS CANNOT HAVE FIREARMS

Secretary Kalbfus Praises Men Who Enforce The Law

HAS FAITH IN HIS OFFICERS

But There Are Some People in the State Who Believe That the Game Commissioner Puts Too Strict an Interpretation on the Statute in Some Cases.

In answer to a letter from J. Personei, of New York city, protesting against the confiscation of guns found in the possessions of persons employed by him in the Pocono mountains, Secretary Kalbfus, of the state game commission, replied in part as follows, relative to the enforcement of the act prohibiting unnaturalized aliens from owning or possessing fire arms:

In the course of enforcing this act before referred to, upon one occasion our officers seized a number of rifles in a shooting gallery run by an alien in the town of DuBois, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. The evidence showed that these guns did not belong to the man who was running the shooting gallery but that they did belong to the man who rented the gallery to the alien, the owner being an American citizen. The case was ruled upon by the county court, Commonwealth vs. Charles Maloof, and was carried on appeal by the defendant to the superior court of Pennsylvania, that court ruling that the act providing that aliens should not hunt or shoot and to that end, should not be possessed of a shot gun or rifle, and that if the gun or rifle, in question had been used or could be used, for the purpose of violating this law, the alien in whose charge the same was found was guilty whether he owned the gun or not and the gun was forfeited to the commonwealth.

Conclusive Proof.

For your information I desire to say Section 3 of the act of May 8, 1909, the law above referred to, provides that the possession of a shot gun or rifle at any place outside of buildings within the commonwealth by an unnaturalized alien shall be conclusive proof of a violation of the provisions of this act. Section 4 provides that the presence of a gun in a building or camp or other place occupied by aliens shall be prima facie evidence that the gun is owned by the person in control of that camp, or building.

If these aliens in questions were caught in the act of using any of the guns in question, they would be liable to the penalty imposed and also be liable to have the gun found under their control confiscated. If it can be proven that the guns found in your house under the control of an alien were used for violating the law before mentioned, then such gun or guns are forfeited no difference whether you own same or whether the aliens own same, and I have already written the officers regarding this matter.

Must Prove Use.

If this house in which the guns were found belonged to you and you are a naturalized citizen of the United States, and left these guns in a part of this house not occupied or controlled by these aliens, then it will be necessary for the officers to show that the gun or guns seized were used in violation of law before they can be confiscated. If this was not the law, these aliens could use the guns as they pleased and by simply setting same back into the room that you claim, they would be exempt in every way, so far as forfeiture of the guns is concerned.

In your letter, you say that these officers through threats compelled the payment of a certain amount of money, that you gave your check for that amount of money and then stopped the payment of that check. I will not attempt to say one word regarding the ethics of such proceedings upon your part, but will say that these officers were telling you and your employee the exact law; they were not making threats and I will at once direct the re-arrest of your man and his transmittal to the jail in the proper county in which he may be located. Under our law, if any injustice had been done, you would have had the right of appeal. You seem to have peculiar ideas of what you may do in Pennsylvania, and it is up to me to satisfy you that your ideas are not correct. This office proposes in all instances to treat men fairly and justly, and we in turn expect to be treated fairly and justly.

DEPRIVED OF THEIR RIGHTS

People Mere Puppets in Hands of Public Service Commission

AT MERCY OF CORPORATIONS

Clearfield in Need of a Strong Municipal Home Rule League—Voters Should Compel Candidates to Pledge Themselves to Vote for Repeal of Obnoxious Law.

Less than a dozen citizens attended the meeting held in borough council room Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the operation of the public service company law and organizing a branch of the Municipal Home Rule league in Clearfield. One member of borough council was present.

Solon G. Thayer, of Rochester, Pa., who is visiting his brother, Prof. H. Clark Thayer, here, on his way home from Harrisburg, where, as stated in the Progress last week, the Municipal Home Rule league was formed, explained the workings of the law passed by the legislature in 1913.

Under False Colors.

Mr. Thayer stated that even the honest members of the legislature had been fooled into voting for the public service corporations. A close study of the provisions of the law, an investigation into the character of the commissioners and the experience municipalities have had with the commission prove that the law was passed for the sole purpose of placing the municipalities of the state under the control of men whose chief desire is to take care of the interests of the public service corporations.

People's Rights Taken Away.

In his brief statement of the purposes of the law and how the commission is using it to the disadvantage of the people, Mr. Thayer declared that the inherent rights and the constitutional privileges of the people of the boroughs of the state had been taken from them by the legislature. The citizens of a borough cannot do any work or make any improvement, cannot enter into any contracts with a public service corporation without the consent of the public service commission.

The raising of water rates in the borough of Belleville from 350 to 450 per cent, started the agitation in favor of the formation of municipal home rule leagues, the object of which is to arouse the voters to their duty as property owners and free American citizens.

Candidates Should be Pledged.

Unless the public service company law is either repealed or amended the citizens of the state will gradually but surely lose every right they have possessed to rule themselves in municipal matters. The Municipal Home Rule league was organized for the purpose of having the voters ask candidate for governor, state senator and representative to pledge themselves to support the proposition to restore to the people their right of self-government through the repeal or amendment of the public service company law.

Clearfield, with its water company troubles, is as deeply interested in having the law repealed or amended as is any other municipality in the state, and at future meetings of the local league it is hoped that the attendance will be more encouraging than it was Monday night.

Temporary Organization.

A temporary organization of the Clearfield Municipal Home Rule league was effected Monday by choosing Burgess Callahan chairman and J. D. Connolly secretary. These men will serve until a more substantial organization has been effected.

It is necessary that the president of the league shall be a competent, active citizen who can attract to the league those citizens who are willing to take an interest in municipal affairs. The officers of the permanent league in Clearfield should be men of ability, men in whom the citizens have confidence, and men who have influence with the public, and no doubt such men will be elected when the league is properly organized.

Bought a Garage.

MALLEN-BEAMAN

Two Young People Married in St. Francis Catholic Church.

Miss Winifred Beahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beahan, and Charles Mallen, attended by Miss Esther Beahan, sister of the bride, and Albert Raymond, were married at the St. Francis church this morning at 6:30 o'clock. The nuptial ceremony was used and Father Ryan officiated. The bride was dressed in a beautiful traveling dress of silk poplin.

After the ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride in Hilldale. They left this morning to spend a week in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Upon their return they will reside at the corner of Market and Front street, in the Reed house.

The couple, accompanied by the bridesmaid and groomsmen, autographed Philadelphia, where they took the train east.

The bride was dressed in blue silk poplin and the bridesmaid in blue crepe meteor.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and valuable presents.

RAILROAD VICTOR IN OIL LAND CASE

Millions Involved in Decision by Supreme Court.

Washington, June 23.—The supreme court in an opinion by Justice van Devanter confirmed the title of the Southern Pacific Railroad company and its subsidiary, the Kern Trading and Oil company, to valuable oil lands in Fresno county, California. The value of the lands directly involved is estimated to be at least $20,000,000. Claimants in the brief fix the value of lands at $500,000,000. Maxwell Everts, counsel for the railroad, estimates the value at $20,000,000.

The case turned on the statute making the grant to the railroad. The act provided that no mineral lands should pass by it. The court held that "oil" lands were "mineral" lands within the meaning of the act. But it held that the United States was the only party who could have attacked the patents; that its officers charged with the duty of ascertaining whether the lands were mineral before issuing patents held it to be nonmineral.

The court holds that private claimants who attacked the Southern Pacific's title in this suit on the ground that they had filed on the lands as placer mining claims could not attack it now to set aside the title. The present claimants, Edmund Burks of Los Angeles and the Lamprecht company, filed after the railroad had secured its patent.

As to adverse claims to the land filed as placer mining claims before the railroad patents were issued, it was shown these claimants abandoned their claims, failing to do the necessary "assessment work" or to pay the required money.

A kitchen cabinet factory has been opened in the East End by the Swales Brothers, who already have orders for their product sufficient to keep them busy for weeks.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR SUFFRAGE

Green Term, Mr. Puffed, Mr. Hart and Other Men Suffering Mark the Struggle to Secure Suffrage for Women in the State. One Seriously Injured.

Who says Clearfield is not getting on metropolitan air? Already members of citizens' committees of voters, and the town-bound to get on the front page of the big dailies. We have more ambitious than any other town in the valley; we want of progress; we want of kindred organizations; we want of casual drink and disorderly in the streets, and we want with pride to a good many things of which the inhabitants of other towns are deprived.

Aside from her other attendance Clearfield has just added the banner counter march, these anti-social habits in which women participate with great relish and from which they emerge with disheveled hair, wild dresses and tempers heated to the boiling point.

Best Football Team.

One of these marches was pulled off in a local clear Monday, and it has been the talk of the town ever since. There was a mob of blithering women, and the force of clubs was sufficient to meet the onslaught upon the bargains. Full and minute particulars of the affair are lacking, because the action was so quick and casual that nothing short of a moving picture machine could have caught the principal effect as the women sought to capture what they regarded as the best prizes.

If the doctors had no broken limbs or bruised bodies to attend to Monday night it was more through good luck than anything else, for the seriousness of the attack on the baggage counter made the observer shudder.

Some Damage Done.

Women had their dresses torn, and had her fingers injured and another had her hair pulled. There was fighting, pushing and shoving, and those who were not immediately taken escaped a ride to the hospital in the ambulance merely through good luck. A cause pan was an arrow headed upon the counter than a dozen hands grabbed it. Often two or three women would hold the same object, and in the tug of war that followed only the muscular won the prize.

One man caught hold of a garment a woman claimed, and both pulled and jawed until the woman's hand was hurt and she surrendered. Two women with a pan between them fought in a fight which ended only when one of them had lost part of her hair.

A Likely Game.

The scene, viewed from the side standing room on the curb, was one that was at once lively and ridiculous. Frugal seemed to have added the baggage baskets, and friendship was forgotten while the women—and a number of men and boys—fought for the coveted articles.

Chairs were almost paralyzed by the demands made upon them for attention and the co-operators, while still laughing over the antics of the carrying crowd within the store, felt sure it would be necessary to either call the police or the hospital ambulance.

Scarcely the moving picture men had a great opportunity to get a film which would have transmitted in poster anything every thrown upon the canvas when he failed to turn the machine in operation during this affair.

Worms in Water.

White worms have been discovered in the water supply of Springdale, and the board of health of that town has started an investigation. This has become of the complaint of ill in the Clearfield water?

Invented Fire Alarm.

Lee Harrison, of Madera, has invented an automatic fire alarm, which has been patented, and which is said to be a very efficient piece of mechanism.

Entertained Mr. Hall and Wife.

An entertainment in honor of Mr. J. Bell Hall, of DuBois, and his wife, was given at the Clearfield hotel last evening.

WAVE OF CRIME.

With the record of the May term of
criminal court, with its murder trials
fresh before them, and with the county jail full of offenders awaiting the September sessions, the people of Clearfield county have cause for asking themselves when this wave of crime will cease to roll over the county. These crimes are not committed
in any particular section of the county, but are bobbed to various parts.
The criminals themselves are of that class which dwells in all parts of the county.

What is the remedy for this prevalence of crimes, some of which are too
heinous to be discussed in the newspapers? The criminals who appear in court from time to time and either plead guilty to or are convicted of serious offenses are disinclined to listen to argument, prayers or good advice. They are naturally depraved
and laugh to scorn any attempt to show them the better way of living.
The churches and other bodies of
good people are ready to help these degenerates to reform, but they do not want to reform.

The problem of dealing with these outlaws who defy the laws of God and
man is one which is beyond the ability of either churches or courts to solve satisfactorily. Prison terms for such criminals work no reform, for
they are lost to reason and moral sanction. There must be some way to handle moral lepers, but just how to employ that way is the problem. Undoubtedly, despite the severe sentences that have been given criminals

by the county court, crimes of the basest sort are on the increase in this county. Who can suggest a remedy?

PENROSE AND LIQUOR.

Senator Penrose has never denied
that he is allied with the liquor dealers of the state, for such denial could be too easily proven a sham. It is not hard to believe the statement that Penrose is holding up his state platform until he has collected from the liquor interests the million dollars, if they are called upon to do so, and
they may rest assured that the senator's agents will call upon them during the campaign.

But Penrose also wants to have the
anti-liquor vote, knowing that this
vote is growing larger and larger
each year. He therefore hopes to postpone the announcement of his stand on the liquor issue until after
he has secured that million dollars,
having secured which he will endeavor
to placate the anti-liquor voters by pretending that the tariff and not liquor is the chief issue of the campaign. This trick is not likely to work with the intelligent men who
are back of the fight against rum,
and Penrose will be defeated.

The business man who is not represented in the Fourth of July industrial parade will be a lonely person-
age on that occasion.

WITH BIG ARMY VILLA IS NEAR ZACATECAS

City Is Key to Mexico City,
and Its Fall Is Likely.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 23.—General
Villa is nearing Zacatecas with 20,000
men to re-enforce General Natera, who
was driven back from that city by a big federal force.

Villa undertook a forced march when
he learned the Constitutionalists had suffered heavy losses in the rout at La Bufa hill.

It is learned that Natera's rout cost him 5,000 men in killed, wounded and captured.

It is said that 40,000 men will be engaged in what is expected to be the biggest battle of the revolution. Zacatecas, held by 20,000 federals, is now regarded as the strategic key to the Mexican capital, as it is almost surrounded by mountains. If Villa captures the city it will be his greatest military achievement and will make the march to Mexico City the next
step.

Huerta is also rushing re-enforcements to Zacatecas. Orozco, with an army of seasoned troops, is on his way
there. He may reach the battle line
before rebel General Angeles arrives
with his fifty siege guns.

La Bufa hill, to the north, is the chief stronghold of the city. It guards
the railroad entering from the west as well as all roads from the north. On the other side of the city is Refugio
hill, and this is also well fortified. At last reports rebels were in control of the railroad lines.

The rebel re-enforcements are reported not only to have checked the federal advance northward, but to have taken the strong positions which the federals occupied in the wake of Na-
tera's demoralized army.

Army in America, $1,000 for the fund

the Empress of Ireland disaster.

One other name must be added to the long list of the victims of the collision of
the Empress of Ireland and the Storstad.
Edward Cosmboom, an experienced diver,
died as a result of his life lines becoming
fouled when he fell from the forecastle
of the sunken liner.

Marsh, killed on a Toronto street by being run down by a motorist, came to a dramatic termination by the arrest of vestigating the case, on the charge of having killed the girl.

It is believed that no more bodies will
be recovered from the mine at Hill Crest,
Alberta, where the recent disaster occurred, because it seems impossible to reach them. The total death list is now placed at 125. Only ninety-one bodies
have been recovered.

already at the gates of Guadalajara with a large force. It is conceded that unless the mediators reach some tacit understanding before Villa enters Mexico City
the proceedings will be futile.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its
Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into
a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol
added, will turn gray, streaked and
faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff,
stop scalp itching and falling hair.
Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready to use tonic, costing about 50
cents a large bottle, at drug stores,
known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain
our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair
with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no
one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking
one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared.
After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy
soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

OSCEOLA MILLS

Third Week of Evangelistic Meetings Opens Sunday.

The third week of the Evangelistic services began with a splendid service of consecration on Sunday morning. The tabernacle was filled as usual. After a song service of a half hour by the chorus choir, Evangelist Johnson preached his heart-searching sermon on "Consecration. If there is anything that Jesus Christ wants today it is a heart consecrated, a heart surrendered to Jesus Christ. He stands at the door of your hearts and begs, 'Won't you let Me have your life and make it over into an entirely new vessel for Me?' What we want today is to ask Jesus to come into our hearts and fill us with his Holy Spirit and set us on fire for God."

After this plea for people to consecrate their hearts and lives to God, he asked all those who were willing to give God their hearts to come and kneel around the front of the Tabernacle. When this place was filled, the people knelt in their seats. About 1000 people knelt in the sawdust and gave their all to Christ.

Thunder, lightning and rain had no effect on the people that flocked as usual to the evangelistic services. Everyone will long remember the Sabbath services of June 21. Although it was necessary to halt the services for a few minutes on account of the heavy fall of rain, the time was spent in singing "Nearer My God to Thee," and at the close of the hymn everyone felt as if he had been drawn nearer to God.

Mr. Johnson never preached as he preached on Sunday night. He had the attention of the entire congregation from start to finish. Every one seemed eager to show that they had really consecrated this lives to Christ. His text, "And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?"

"It is not because you cannot be a Christian, it is because you do not want to be a Christian. Nobody need to be lost, no one need to go to hell, unless he wants to. If we sin we must expect to be lost. I want you to think of four words for a few minutes they are Record, God, Conscience and Eternity. Every deed of your life is recorded, the all seeing eye of God reads your record. Your conscience will follow you will seek you out and reprove and ring in your ear all through a long long eternity.

"You might as well speak of a heavenly devil as to speak of a worldly church member. I would rather go down without a warning, than go to hell with a warning ringing in my ears."

In the prayer that followed the sermon, Rev. Johnson prayed that the people would heed the warning. Sixty-seven people, young and old, came down the aisle and surrendered their hearts to God, making 327 that have decided for Christ since the beginning of the campaign.

PINCHOT'S FIGHT FOR THE PEOPLE

Alaska Pioneer Tells How He Hammered Monopoly

INSISTED ON SQUARE DEAL

Jack Dalton Describes How Pennsylvania's Efforts Were Big Factor in Preserving Natural Resources for Benefit of Plain Citizen.

WHAT GIFFORD PINCHOT HAS DONE FOR ALASKA

By Jack Dalton, Alaska Pioneer.

Five years ago comparatively few Americans knew or cared much about the welfare of Alaska. Today practically every thinking citizen throughout our country realizes that the opening up and development of this northernmost territory of the United States is one of the most important national problems to be solved by the people of this country during the next few years.

It can not be too thoroughly understood that the development of Alaska is not a local problem for the scant population of less than 65,000 people in the northwest territory; it is a truly national problem in every sense of the word. The benefits which will come from the development and conservation of the vast natural resources of Alaska will be enjoyed by the people of every state of this country as well as by the people of Alaska.

The territory with its great treasury of natural resources was bought and paid for by the American people; it is still their property. Alaska was purchased by the United States from Russia for $7,200,000 in 1867; since that time nearly $525,000,000 worth of resources have been taken out of the territory. It was a good investment for the United States.

Protected Natural Resources. The people of the United States should be as interested in the development of the coal fields of Alaska as Alaskans themselves, because the coal which will be mined will go a long way toward supplying the United States Navy with fuel and also toward providing a supply for the people of the Pacific coast who now have to depend largely upon purchases of coal which is imported from British Columbia.

Mr. Pinchot has always joined in supporting those men at whose instance efforts have been made to protect the wonderful fisheries of Alaska which, since the time of purchase of the territory in 1867 have given to this country products valued at nearly $185,000,000. Several years ago Mr. Pinchot, when in Alaska, called attention to the need for the application of the principles of conservation to the fishing industry.

He had in mind particularly one of the herring fisheries where for a number of years a company had been engaged in manufacturing fertilizer from the herring which is a valuable food fish and the supply of which is dwindling. At the same time that herring were being used for fertilizer in Alaska thousands of tons of fish refuse from the salmon canneries was wasted and poured unused into the sea.

Our people have been interested in Mr. Pinchot's efforts to encourage the development and wise use of Alaska's resources and it is through the support of broad minded men like him, both in and out of the Congress of the United States, that there is now promise that in the next few years there will begin a new era in the development and conservation of all the vast resources of the territory.

Russia for $7,200,000 in 1867; since that time nearly $525,000,000 worth of resources have been taken out of the territory. It was a good investment for the United States.

Pinchot Led in Fight. What has been the cause of the general awakening of interest of people of the whole United States in the welfare of Alaska in the last five years? It must be remembered that the territory has been the property of the American people for nearly a half century. To answer this question gives me a chance, as a resident of Alaska for nearly thirty years, to express briefly my appreciation of what one of the most able and public spirited Americans of the present generation has done for our territory.

I refer to Gifford Pinchot of Milford, Pennsylvania, formerly chief of the United States Forest Service, to whose fight for the conservation of natural resources every patriotic citizen throughout this country, as well as in Mr. Pinchot's own state, should give his hearty support.

It was at Gifford Pinchot's instance that President Roosevelt adopted the policy to protect the interests of the American people by checking the raids which were planned on our natural resources. The withdrawal of our coal fields kept them in public ownership, and has made possible the early use of the coal for the United States Navy, for the development of the territory's mines, and for an excellent fuel supply for the far western part of our own country.

Saved Forests for State. The creation of National Forests in Alaska has insured for our people a ready supply of timber for domestic use and for development of industry for all time; otherwise we should now have to apply to a monopoly for timber, and pay a monopolist's price. If the National Forests had not been set aside by President Roosevelt, much of our best timber would have been grabbed and held for speculation, and while waiting for the rise in value, most of our settlers would have had to pay exorbitant prices for their wood, and perhaps could not have obtained timber at any price. Now the government insures us a permanent supply at fair prices.

In this great national problem of developing the resources of Alaska it must be remembered that the heart of this problem is the securing of adequate transportation facilities. Mr. Pinchot called the public's attention years ago to the fact that the development of Alaska had been unduly hampered and delayed by the lack of railroad facilities, and it is due largely to his interest in this problem that has made possible the progress which has been made recently and which has resulted in the decision by Congress to spend $35,000,000 in the construction and equipment of a railroad in Alaska. Without railroads from the coast into the coal fields and agricultural lands of the interior little progress can be made in the development of our great natural resources. Gifford Pinchot realized this when he first advocated construction of a government railroad to transport our products to the coast.

PENROSE MAKING RECORD AS "ABSENTEE" SENATOR

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Much comment is being caused here by Senator Penrose's continual absence from the senate. Penrose frequently boasted that he was always present representing his constituents. This year he is the one notable absentee in the senate. He has scarcely been present at half a dozen sessions, and has been absent from committee meetings during the time important legislation has been considered. He was not present to vote on the Panama Canal question and has side-stepped many other important votes.

PINCHOT PLANS TO VISIT EASTERN COUNTIES NEXT

Gifford Pinchot, Washington party candidate for the United States Senate, will resume his automobile tour of the state June 25. Mr. Pinchot will visit eastern counties, where he will meet the voters and discuss the issues.

Fifteen counties in all have already been visited by Pinchot and in every one of them the Washington party candidate was given a big reception and his declaration that he was going to beat Penrose received with enthusiasm.

The Bottle Tree.

The Sterculias is a genus largely represented in Queensland, and widely distributed. To it belongs the bottle tree of the west of Queensland. Blacks eat the seeds of one of the species of the coast, and in the Philippines those of apparently a closely allied species are considered wholesome when roasted or boiled, though eaten in large quantities. The tree belongs to a good family, being related to the Theobroma (food of the gods), which supplies the world with cocoa and chocolate. When the fruit splits open it is a brilliant scarlet with orange-tinted interior; along the parted edges are the seeds, oval and black, covered with a rich purple bloom. The fruit, being tough and leathery, it remains on the tree a long time, forming a most effective display in the gloom of the jungle.

Milk Sterilized by Electricity. Milk sterilized by electricity, the microbes being killed by electric shocks, is being supplied from the Liverpool corporation milk depots to about a thousand babies daily. The advantage said to be gained over sterilization by steam is that the milk tastes the same as when it leaves the cow. It is said that all contamination is removed.

INVITE VILLA TO SEND DELEGATES

Peace Envoys May Ignore Carranza Entirely.

MAP OUT NEW PROGRAM.

Every Effort Now Being Made to Prolong Peace Conference—Armistice Seems Necessary to Permit Rebel Representation at Niagara Falls, but This May Be Overcome.

Niagara Falls, June 23.—Ignoring Carranza entirely by sending a direct invitation to General Villa to name delegates to attend the peace conference was admitted a possibility when the peace sessions were resumed for another week's work. Obviously without an armistice, the Constitutionalists cannot be admitted to full participation in the discussion, but will enter to talk over the international phases that naturally arise.

Hope to Prolong Conference.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson and his advisers took up the new course of action proposed by the South American envoys designed to prolong the mediation conference. It is the hope of an eventual settlement of the Mexican problem. Notwithstanding Carranza's reiterated objections to a discussion of the republic's international affairs, the mediators, it was said, had not given up hope of bringing the Constitutionalists into touch with the Niagara conference.

Confirmation was awaited here of reports that the United States had invited Villa to send his representatives to Niagara Falls to confer with the American delegates. The latter would transmit to the mediators and the Huerta delegates the views of the Constitutionalists. That could be done, it was suggested, without the need of an armistice.

News of the renewed attack on Zacatecas was closely watched here. Revolutionary agents were rejoicing over reports that in fighting their forces had taken three federal positions, evidently outside the main defense. Some confirmation of statements that Villa and Carranza had patched up their differences was seen in denials from Torreon that Villa had proclaimed General Angeles provisional president. "Nothing has been further from my mind," Villa was quoted as declaring. In telegrams exchanged between Villa and Carranza's confidential agent on the border the former was reported to have asserted that no differences existed between himself and "the first chief" and that he proposed to prevent such a crisis "because of the needs of the country."

IDENTIFY HEADLESS GIRL

First Clue to Mystery of Finding of Torso in River.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 23.—Mrs. William Faust went to the morgue and examined the pink skirt that was found wrapped about the torso of the Mohawk river murder victim. After a careful examination the mother said that it was identical with one worn by her daughter, Teresa Faust, previously reported as Lulu Faust, who disappeared with Miss Jessie Bellare after being seen at Dolly park with two men.

The skirt was of a cheap variety, and Mrs. Faust was sure that her daughter wore a similar skirt when she went away from home. Efforts were doubled to find the head of the victim when the police were informed that the torso discovered near Scotia bridge had been identified by Burt Francesco of Albany street as that of Miss Lulu Faust, who disappeared five weeks ago.

STONEVILLE.

There will be a church festival at Stoneville church, Saturday night, June 27. Everybody welcome.

The Stoneville baseball team went to Bigler Saturday and was defeated by the score of 14 to 15. The feature of the game was a triple play by Stoneville in the first inning.

Saturday evening, on arriving home from the ball game, George Wolstencroft was surprised to find quite a number of his friends and relatives gathered to celebrate his birthday. A delightful supper was served and after supper a dance was held. Every body reported a good time.

Fred E. Shugarts has arrived home from Lock Haven, where he has been attending the Central State normal.

Wava and Earl Shugarts, of Bigler, are visiting their grand-parents, Squire and Mrs. George B. Shugarts. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, of Glen Richey, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wisor over Sunday.

The Stoneville ball team will play the strong team of Wallacetown on Saturday, June 27, at Wallacetown.

Prof. Nels E. Peterson, of Bucknell university, was visiting friends in town today. Prof. Peterson was formerly principal of the Mahaffey school.

Card of Thanks.

PENROSE TRICK TO GET MONEY

Postponement of Platform Making Scheme to Fool People

LIQUOR THE CHIEF DIFFICULTY

Senator Hopes That Rum Dealers and Manufacturers Will Contribute Liberally to His Campaign Now, And He May Then Issue a Hypocritical Anti-Liquor Pledge.

Money politics is back of the repeated postponements of the framing of a platform for the Republican state campaign. The longer the Penrose machine delays the promulgation of a platform, the greater becomes the opportunity to squeeze funds out of the rum interests upon whom the machine is depending to finance the campaign for Penrose and the state ticket.

Originally the date set for framing a state platform was June 3, when the Republican state committee met for organization at Harrisburg. By decree from Penrose's office in Philadelphia, the platform making was postponed until July 15, notwithstanding the fact that both the Washington and Democratic committees promptly went before the people of the state with their declarations of principles.

Last week there was another decree for a postponement of the Republican platform, after a perfunctory meeting of a committee that was appointed by Penrose's man, State Chairman Crow, for the ostensible purpose of framing the document. The date now set is August 26, and that will give over two months more in which to apply the screws to the rum men.

Liquor "Chief Difficulty"

Press agents of the machine have for weeks been busy spreading reports that the "chief difficulty" in framing a platform has been a "division of opinion" over the local option question. Both the Washington and Democratic platform having declared for local option, the brewery and distilling interests have the Republican platform alone to depend upon for support against local option, and the mere possibility that Penrose might order a plank in favor of local option is enough to give them a chill sufficient to shake all the loose coin out of their clothes.

That the rum interests will be "good for" considerably more than a million dollars for the machine campaign in Pennsylvania this fall has been current report in political circles for months past. In fact, machine politicians have freely declared that the brewery, distilling and allied interests will produce $2,000,000 for the fight, if need be.

Brewers Will Come Down.

The Pennsylvania State Brewers' association is in position to contribute $1,000,000 itself. The association annually assesses its members 5 cents a barrel on all beer brewed which produces a sum of $250,000 yearly, which is expended in what the officers of the association politely term "educational work." As the amount of "educational work" in behalf of Penrose and the state ticket, and for the election of a senate and house of representatives at Harrisburg under liquor control, will be greater than ever before, it may be necessary for the association to levy extra assessments. Three extra 5-cents-per-barrel assessments would raise the "educational" funds of the brewers' association to $1,000,000.

Distillers Have Separate Fund.

The whisky distilling interests, represented by Jim Mulvihill, have a separate war fund, and Governor Tener's man Friday, Chester P. Ray, was recently placed in charge of organizing all the allied businesses which are indirectly connected with the rum trade, for contributing and "educational" purposes.

The advantages of keeping these various producing elements on a hot saddle for a considerable period of time are apparent to even the most inexperienced of the machine's campaign managers. The larger the fat spot is on the spit, the greater the amount of drippings in the pan.

Chairman Detrich's Statement.

In a statement issued Saturday, State Chairman Detrich, of the Washington party, voiced the opinion that is held in all parties over the tactics which Penrose and his assistants are pursuing in postponing the adoption of a platform. He said:

"Evidently the postponements have

been for the purpose of giving the Penrose machine all the time it wants to conduct its canvass for funds among the liquor interests of the state and obtain a great deal of money which otherwise might be denied after the adoption of the platform which will, no doubt, contain a favorable local option plank.

"Penrose has already said that the platform will be acceptable both to him and Dector Brumbaugh, which means nothing else than that it will be arranged to please both the liquor people and the friends of local option, if this be possible.

"There is little doubt that between now and the issuing of the Republican platform Penrose will complete his thorough understanding with the liquor ring."

REPORTED DEAD

Paul Dougherty Said to Have Met Death in Chicago.

It was reported in town last evening that Paul Dougherty, formerly of Clearfield, had been found dead in a box car in Chicago.

The rumor is to the effect that Paul had entered the car and it had been locked, not being opened for five days. Paul was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dougherty of the Ridges.

WILL HELP PUNISH RECKLESS MOTORISTS

The Lancaster Automobile Club Takes Commendable Action

Local motorists are respectfully asked to read and ponder over the following resolutions adopted by the Lancaster Automobile club:

"Resolved, That in view of the many automobile accidents that are occurring daily and the apparent recklessness displayed by automobile drivers, we, the Lancaster Automobile club, request our members to abide with all the regulations of the law providing for the safety of the public, and urge on every motorist to do the same, according to all users of the roads the free and safe enjoyment of all the rights to which they are entitled. Be it further

"Resolved, That the Lancaster Automobile club will co-operate with the public officials, to the extent of furnishing information concerning reckless violators of the law, whether they be members of the club or not. And be it further

"Resolved, That the club will not defend the acts of a reckless violator of the law, but will do all in its power to further the interests of a member unjustly and unfairly accused, after his case has been thoroughly investigated."

"PRISONER OF ZENDA"

A Fine Picture at New Opera House Last Night.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" shown at the New opera house on Monday evening, was considered by many to be the best picture ever shown in Clearfield. James K. Hackett, in the leading role, plays a difficult part exceptionally well, and he is ably supported by a company of real artists.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" was Anthony Hope's big success. It was dramatized by Daniel Frohman, and wherever it has been shown it has delighted the picture-loving public. In this play the settings are superb, even the minute details being carefully worked out. Some of the landscape scenes are especially beautiful.

These pictures were shown at the opera house last evening to a capacity house. The pictures will be shown again this evening and should be seen by all who like an exceptional play in motion pictures.

ALIENS CANNOT HAVE FIREARMS

Secretary Kalbfus Praises Men Who Enforce The Law

HAS FAITH IN HIS OFFICERS

But There Are Some People in the State Who Believe That the Game Commissioner Puts Too Strict an Interpretation on the Statute in Some Cases.

In answer to a letter from J. Personei, of New York city, protesting against the confiscation of guns found in the possessions of persons employed by him in the Pocono mountains, Secretary Kalbfus, of the state game commission, replied in part as follows, relative to the enforcement of the act prohibiting unnaturalized aliens from owning or possessing fire arms:

In the course of enforcing this act before referred to, upon one occasion our officers seized a number of rifles in a shooting gallery run by an alien in the town of DuBois, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. The evidence showed that these guns did not belong to the man who was running the shooting gallery but that they did belong to the man who rented the gallery to the alien, the owner being an American citizen. The case was ruled upon by the county court, Commonwealth vs. Charles Maloof, and was carried on appeal by the defendant to the superior court of Pennsylvania, that court ruling that the act providing that aliens should not hunt or shoot and to that end, should not be possessed of a shot gun or rifle, and that if the gun or rifle, in question had been used or could be used, for the purpose of violating this law, the alien in whose charge the same was found was guilty whether he owned the gun or not and the gun was forfeited to the commonwealth.

Conclusive Proof.

For your information I desire to say Section 3 of the act of May 8, 1909, the law above referred to, provides that the possession of a shot gun or rifle at any place outside of buildings within the commonwealth by an unnaturalized alien shall be conclusive proof of a violation of the provisions of this act. Section 4 provides that the presence of a gun in a building or camp or other place occupied by aliens shall be prima facie evidence that the gun is owned by the person in control of that camp, or building.

If these aliens in questions were caught in the act of using any of the guns in question, they would be liable to the penalty imposed and also be liable to have the gun found under their control confiscated. If it can be proven that the guns found in your house under the control of an alien were used for violating the law before mentioned, then such gun or guns are forfeited no difference whether you own same or whether the aliens own same, and I have already written the officers regarding this matter.

If this house in which the guns were found belonged to you and you are a naturalized citizen of the United States, and left these guns in a part of this house not occupied or controlled by these aliens, then it will be necessary for the officers to show that the gun or guns seized were used in violation of law before they can be confiscated. If this was not the law, these aliens could use the guns as they pleased and by simply setting same back into the room that you claim, they would be exempt in every way, so far as forfeiture of the guns is concerned.

In your letter, you say that these officers through threats compelled the payment of a certain amount of money, that you gave your check for that amount of money and then stopped the payment of that check. I will not attempt to say one word regarding the ethics of such proceedings upon your part, but will say that these officers were telling you and your employee the exact law; they were not making threats and I will at once direct the re-arrest of your man and his transmittal to the jail in the proper county in which he may be located. Under our law, if any injustice had been done, you would have had the right of appeal. You seem to have peculiar ideas of what you may do in Pennsylvania, and it is up to me to satisfy you that your ideas are not correct. This office proposes in all instances to treat men fairly and justly, and we in turn expect to be treated fairly and justly.

DEPRIVED OF THEIR RIGHTS

People Mere Puppets in Hands of Public Service Commission

AT MERCY OF CORPORATIONS

Clearfield in Need of a Strong Municipal Home Rule League—Voters Should Compel Candidates to Pledge Themselves to Vote for Repeal of Obnoxious Law.

Less than a dozen citizens attended the meeting held in borough council room Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the operation of the public service company law and organizing a branch of the Municipal Home Rule league in Clearfield. One member of borough council was present.

Solon G. Thayer, of Rochester, Pa., who is visiting his brother, Prof. H. Clark Thayer, here, on his way home from Harrisburg, where, as stated in the Progress last week, the Municipal Home Rule league was formed, explained the workings of the law passed by the legislature in 1913.

Under False Colors.

Mr. Thayer stated that even the honest members of the legislature had been fooled into voting for the public service corporations. A close study of the provisions of the law, an investigation into the character of the commissioners and the experience municipalities have had with the commission prove that the law was passed for the sole purpose of placing the municipalities of the state under the control of men whose chief desire is to take care of the interests of the public service corporations.

People's Rights Taken Away.

In his brief statement of the purposes of the law and how the commission is using it to the disadvantage of the people, Mr. Thayer declared that the inherent rights and the constitutional privileges of the people of the boroughs of the state had been taken from them by the legislature. The citizens of a borough cannot do any work or make any improvement, cannot enter into any contracts with a public service corporation without the consent of the public service commission.

The raising of water rates in the borough of Belleville from 350 to 450 per cent, started the agitation in favor of the formation of municipal home rule leagues, the object of which is to arouse the voters to their duty as property owners and free American citizens.

Candidates Should be Pledged.

Unless the public service company law is either repealed or amended the citizens of the state will gradually but surely lose every right they have possessed to rule themselves in municipal matters. The Municipal Home Rule league was organized for the purpose of having the voters ask candidate for governor, state senator and representative to pledge themselves to support the proposition to restore to the people their right of self-government through the repeal or amendment of the public service company law.

Clearfield, with its water company troubles, is as deeply interested in having the law repealed or amended as is any other municipality in the state, and at future meetings of the local league it is hoped that the attendance will be more encouraging than it was Monday night.

Temporary Organization.

A temporary organization of the Clearfield Municipal Home Rule league was effected Monday by choosing Burgess Callahan chairman and J. D. Connolly secretary. These men will serve until a more substantial organization has been effected.

It is necessary that the president of the league shall be a competent, active citizen who can attract to the league those citizens who are willing to take an interest in municipal affairs. The officers of the permanent league in Clearfield should be men of ability, men in whom the citizens have confidence, and men who have influence with the public, and no doubt such men will be elected when the league is properly organized.

MALLEN-BEAMAN

Two Young People Married in St. Francis Catholic Church.

Miss Winifred Beahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beahan, and Charles Mallen, attended by Miss Esther Beahan, sister of the bride, and Albert Raymond, were married at the St. Francis church this morning at 6:30 o'clock. The nuptial ceremony was used and Father Ryan officiated. The bride was dressed in a beautiful traveling dress of silk poplin.

After the ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride in Hilldale. They left this morning to spend a week in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Upon their return they will reside at the corner of Market and Front street, in the Reed house.

The couple, accompanied by the bridesmaid and groomsmen, autographed Philadelphia, where they took the train east.

The bride was dressed in blue silk poplin and the bridesmaid in blue crepe meteor.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and valuable presents.

RAILROAD VICTOR IN OIL LAND CASE

Millions Involved in Decision by Supreme Court.

Washington, June 23.—The supreme court in an opinion by Justice van Devanter confirmed the title of the Southern Pacific Railroad company and its subsidiary, the Kern Trading and Oil company, to valuable oil lands in Fresno county, California. The value of the lands directly involved is estimated to be at least $20,000,000. Claimants in the brief fix the value of lands at $500,000,000. Maxwell Everts, counsel for the railroad, estimates the value at $20,000,000.

The case turned on the statute making the grant to the railroad. The act provided that no mineral lands should pass by it. The court held that "oil" lands were "mineral" lands within the meaning of the act. But it held that the United States was the only party who could have attacked the patents; that its officers charged with the duty of ascertaining whether the lands were mineral before issuing patents held it to be nonmineral.

The court holds that private claimants who attacked the Southern Pacific's title in this suit on the ground that they had filed on the lands as placer mining claims could not attack it now to set aside the title. The present claimants, Edmund Burks of Los Angeles and the Lamprecht company, filed after the railroad had secured its patent.

As to adverse claims to the land filed as placer mining claims before the railroad patents were issued, it was shown these claimants abandoned their claims, failing to do the necessary "assessment work" or to pay the required money.

A kitchen cabinet factory has been opened in the East End by the Swales Brothers, who already have orders for their product sufficient to keep them busy for weeks.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR WOMEN

Green's Term, Mr. Puffed, Mr. Hart and Other Men's Names Mark the Struggle to Secure Equal Rights for Women.

Who says Clearfield is not getting on metropolitan air? Already members of citizens' committees of various towns, and the town's bound to get on the first page of the big dailies. We have more ambitious than any other town in the valley; we have of progressive-minded and kindred organizations; we have an occasional drunk and disorderly in the streets, and we point with pride to a good many things of which the inhabitants of other towns are ashamed.

Aside from her other attributes Clearfield has just added the badge of counter rank, these anti-social habits in which women participate with great relish and from which they emerge with disheveled hair, wild dresses and tempers heated to the boiling point.

Best Football Team.

One of these rather was pulled off in a local chess strategy, and it has been the talk of the town ever since. There was a case of blithering stupidity, and the force of clubs was sufficient to meet the onslaught upon the bargain. Full and minute particulars of the affair are lacking, because the action was so quick and casual that nothing short of a moving picture machine could have caught the principal effect as the women sought to capture what they regarded as the best prize.

If the doctors had no broken limbs or bruised bodies to attend to Monday night it was more through good luck than anything else, for the seriousness of the attack on the baggage counter made the observer shudder.

Some Damage Done.

Women had their dresses torn, and had her fingers injured and another had her hair pulled. There was fighting, pushing and shoving, and those who were not immediately taken escaped a ride to the hospital in the ambulance merely through good luck. A cause was an answer handed upon the counter than a dozen hands grabbed it. Often two or three women would hold the same object, and in the tug of war that followed only the muscular won the prize.

One man caught hold of a garment a woman claimed, and both pulled and jawed until the woman's hand was hurt and she surrendered. Two women with a pan between them fought in a fight which ended only when one of them had lost part of her hair.

A Likely Game.

The scene, viewed from the side standing room on the curb, was one that was at once lively and ridiculous. Frequent seemed to have ended the baggage handlers, and friendship was forgotten while the women—and a number of men and boys—fought for the coveted article.

Chorus were almost paralyzed by the demands made upon them for attention and the confusion, while all laughter over the antics of the fighting crowd within the store, felt sure it would be necessary to either call the police or the hospital ambulance.

Scarcely the moving picture men had a great opportunity to get a film which would have transmitted in poster anything every thrown upon the canvas when he failed to turn the machine in operation during this affair.

Women in Water.

White worms have been discovered in the water supply of Springdale, and the board of health of that town has started an investigation. This has become the complaint of all in the Clearfield water?

Invented Fire Alarm.

Lee Harrison, of Madera, has invented an automatic fire alarm, which has been patented, and which is said to be a very efficient piece of mechanism.

Entertained Mr. Hall and Wife.

An entertainment in honor of Mr. J. Bell Hall, of DuBois, and his wife, was given at the Clearfield hotel Sunday evening.

What is lovelier than a woman which do not convert her into the semblance of a grasshopper?

Good evening! Are you sure you have returned thanks for that splendid rain?

WAVE OF CRIME.

With the record of the May term of
criminal court, with its murder trials
fresh before them, and with the county jail full of offenders awaiting the September sessions, the people of Clearfield county have cause for asking themselves when this wave of
crime will cease to roll over the county. These crimes are not committed
in any particular section of the county, but are bobbed to various parts.
The criminals themselves are of that
class which dwells in all parts of the county.

What is the remedy for this prevalence of crimes, some of which are too
heinous to be discussed in the newspapers? The criminals who appear
in court from time to time and either
plead guilty to or are convicted of serious offenses are disinclined to
listen to argument, prayers or good
advice. They are naturally depraved
and laugh to scorn any attempt to
show them the better way of living.
The churches and other bodies of
good people are ready to help these
degenerates to reform, but they do
not want to reform.

The problem of dealing with these
outlaws who defy the laws of God and
man is one which is beyond the ability of either churches or courts to solve satisfactorily. Prison terms for such criminals work no reform, for
they are lost to reason and moral sanction. There must be some way to handle moral lepers, but just how to employ that way is the problem. Undoubtedly, despite the severe sentences that have been given criminals

by the county court, crimes of the bas-
est sort are on the increase in this county. Who can suggest a remedy?

PENROSE AND LIQUOR.

Senator Penrose has never denied
that he is allied with the liquor dealers of the state, for such denial could
be too easily proven a sham. It is not hard to believe the statement that Penrose is holding up his state platform until he has collected from the
liquor interests the million dollars, if
they are called upon to do so, and
they may rest assured that the sena-
tor's agents will call upon them during the campaign.

But Penrose also wants to have the
anti-liquor vote, knowing that this
vote is growing larger and larger
each year. He therefore hopes to postpone the announcement of his
stand on the liquor issue until after
he has secured that million dollars,
having secured which he will endeavor
to placate the anti-liquor voters by
pretending that the tariff and not liquor is the chief issue of the campaign. This trick is not likely to work with the intelligent men who
are back of the fight against rum,
and Penrose will be defeated.

The business man who is not represented in the Fourth of July industrial parade will be a lonely person-
age on that occasion.

WITH BIG ARMY VILLA IS NEAR ZACATECAS

City Is Key to Mexico City,
and Its Fall Is Likely.

Saltillo, Mexico, June 23.—General
Villa is nearing Zacatecas with 20,000
men to re-enforce General Natera, who
was driven back from that city by a
big federal force.

Villa undertook a forced march when
he learned the Constitutionalists had
suffered heavy losses in the rout at La
Bufa hill.

It is learned that Natera's rout cost
him 5,000 men in killed, wounded and
captured.

It is said that 40,000 men will be engaged in what is expected to be the biggest battle of the revolution. Zacatecas, held by 20,000 federals, is now
regarded as the strategic key to the Mexican capital, as it is almost surrounded by mountains. If Villa captures the city it will be his greatest
military achievement and will make
the march to Mexico City the next
step.

Huerta is also rushing re-enforcements to Zacatecas. Orozco, with an
army of seasoned troops, is on his way
there. He may reach the battle line
before rebel General Angeles arrives
with his fifty siege guns.

La Bufa hill, to the north, is the chief stronghold of the city. It guards
the railroad entering from the west as well as all roads from the north. On the other side of the city is Refugio
hill, and this is also well fortified. At last reports rebels were in control of
the railroad lines.

The rebel re-enforcements are reported not only to have checked the federal advance northward, but to have taken the strong positions which the
federals occupied in the wake of Na-
tera's demoralized army.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

The engagement of Miss Edythe Haverover, youngest daughter of the late Henry Haverover of New York, to the Earl of Euston, heir to the Duke of Gratton, is announced in London.

Twelve persons, most of them women and children, were drowned in the Oswago canal near Syracuse, N. Y., when a launch in which they were riding struck a submerged log and capsized.

John D. Rockefeller has sent to Miss Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation
Army in America, $1,000 for the fund
that is being raised for the sufferers of
the Empress of Ireland disaster.

One other name must be added to the
long list of the victims of the collision of
the Empress of Ireland and the Storstad.
Edward Cosmboom, an experienced diver,
died as a result of his life lines becoming
fouled when he fell from the forecastle
of the sunken liner.

The inquest on the death of Mary Marsh, killed on a Toronto street by being run down by a motorist, came to a
dramatic termination by the arrest of John B. Whaley, foreman of the jury investigating the case, on the charge of having killed the girl.

It is believed that no more bodies will
be recovered from the mine at Hill Crest,
Alberta, where the recent disaster occurred, because it seems impossible to reach them. The total death list is now placed at 118. Only ninety-one bodies
have been recovered.

Two prominent young naval officers,
Lieut. Fred E. Potest and Ensign Alston R. Simpson, stationed on the Mayflower, the president's yacht, will answer

While mediation proceedings go merrily on or while they are held up over the obstinacy of one side or the other General Villa is slowly pushing his forces on to Mexico City. General Alvaro Obregon, one of the ablest of Villa's satellites, is already at the gates of Guadalajara with a large force. It is conceded that unless
the mediators reach some tacit understanding before Villa enters Mexico City
the proceedings will be futile.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its
Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into
a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol
added, will turn gray, streaked and
faded hair beautifully dark and lux-
uriant; remove every bit of dandruff,
stop scalp itching and falling hair.
Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur re-
cipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the
ready to use tonic, costing about 50
cents a large bottle, at drug stores,
known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of
muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is
not sinful, we all desire to retain
our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair
with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no
one can tell, because it does it so
naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and
draw this through your hair, taking
one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared.
After another application or two your
hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy
soft and luxuriant and you appear
years younger.

OSCEOLA MILLS

Third Week of Evangelistic Meetings Opens Sunday.

The third week of the Evangelistic services began with a splendid service of consecration on Sunday morning. The tabernacle was filled as usual. After a song service of a half hour by the chorus choir, Evangelist Johnson preached his heart-searching sermon on "Consecration. If there is anything that Jesus Christ wants today it is a heart consecrated, a heart surrendered to Jesus Christ. He stands at the door of your hearts and begs, 'Won't you let Me have your life and make it over into an entirely new vessel for Me?' What we want today is to ask Jesus to come into our hearts and fill us with his Holy Spirit and set us on fire for God."

After this plea for people to consecrate their hearts and lives to God, he asked all those who were willing to give God their hearts to come and kneel around the front of the Tabernacle. When this place was filled, the people knelt in their seats. About 1000 people knelt in the sawdust and gave their all to Christ.

Thunder, lightning and rain had no effect on the people that flocked as usual to the evangelistic services. Everyone will long remember the Sabbath services of June 21. Although it was necessary to halt the services for a few minutes on account of the heavy fall of rain, the time was spent in singing "Nearer My God to Thee," and at the close of the hymn everyone felt as if he had been drawn nearer to God.

Mr. Johnson never preached as he preached on Sunday night. He had the attention of the entire congregation from start to finish. Every one seemed eager to show that they had really consecrated this lives to Christ. His text, "And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?"

"It is not because you cannot be a Christian, it is because you do not want to be a Christian. Nobody need to be lost, no one need to go to hell, unless he wants to. If we sin we must expect to be lost. I want you to think of four words for a few minutes they are Record, God, Conscience and Eternity. Every deed of your life is recorded, the all seeing eye of God reads your record. Your conscience will follow you will seek you out and reprove and ring in your ear all through a long long eternity.

"You might as well speak of a heavenly devil as to speak of a worldly church member. I would rather go down without a warning, than go to hell with a warning ringing in my ears."

In the prayer that followed the sermon, Rev. Johnson prayed that the people would heed the warning. Sixty-seven people, young and old, came down the aisle and surrendered their hearts to God, making 327 that have decided for Christ since the beginning of the campaign.

Alaska Pioneer Tells How He Hammered Monopoly

INSISTED ON SQUARE DEAL

Jack Dalton Describes How Pennsylvania's Efforts Were Big Factor in Preserving Natural Resources for Benefit of Plain Citizen.

WHAT GIFFORD PINCHOT HAS DONE FOR ALASKA

By Jack Dalton, Alaska Pioneer.

Five years ago comparatively few Americans knew or cared much about the welfare of Alaska. Today practically every thinking citizen throughout our country realizes that the opening up and development of this northernmost territory of the United States is one of the most important national problems to be solved by the people of this country during the next few years.

It can not be too thoroughly understood that the development of Alaska is not a local problem for the scant population of less than 65,000 people in the northwest territory; it is a truly national problem in every sense of the word. The benefits which will come from the development and conservation of the vast natural resources of Alaska will be enjoyed by the people of every state of this country as well as by the people of Alaska.

The territory with its great treasury of natural resources was bought and paid for by the American people; it is still their property. Alaska was purchased by the United States from

Russia for $7,200,000 in 1867; since that time nearly $525,000,000 worth of resources have been taken out of the territory. It was a good investment for the United States.

Pinchot Led in Fight.

What has been the cause of the general awakening of interest of people of the whole United States in the welfare of Alaska in the last five years? It must be remembered that the territory has been the property of the American people for nearly a half century. To answer this question gives me a chance, as a resident of Alaska for nearly thirty years, to express briefly my appreciation of what one of the most able and public spirited Americans of the present generation has done for our territory.

I refer to Gifford Pinchot of Milford, Pennsylvania, formerly chief of the United States Forest Service, to whose fight for the conservation of natural resources every patriotic citizen throughout this country, as well as in Mr. Pinchot's own state, should give his hearty support.

It was at Gifford Pinchot's instance that President Roosevelt adopted the policy to protect the interests of the American people by checking the raids which were planned on our natural resources. The withdrawal of our coal fields kept them in public ownership, and has made possible the early use of the coal for the United States Navy, for the development of the territory's mines, and for an excellent fuel supply for the far western part of our own country.

Saved Forests for State.

The creation of National Forests in Alaska has insured for our people a ready supply of timber for domestic use and for development of industry for all time; otherwise we should now have to apply to a monopoly for timber, and pay a monopolist's price. If the National Forests had not been set aside by President Roosevelt, much of our best timber would have been grabbed and held for speculation, and while waiting for the rise in value, most of our settlers would have had to pay exorbitant prices for their wood, and perhaps could not have obtained timber at any price. Now the government insures us a permanent supply at fair prices.

In this great national problem of developing the resources of Alaska it must be remembered that the heart of this problem is the securing of adequate transportation facilities. Mr. Pinchot called the public's attention years ago to the fact that the development of Alaska had been unduly hampered and delayed by the lack of railroad facilities, and it is due largely to his interest in this problem that has made possible the progress which has been made recently and which has resulted in the decision by Congress to spend $35,000,000 in the construction and equipment of a road in Alaska. Without railroads from the coast into the coal fields and agricultural lands of the interior little progress can be made in the development of our great natural resources. Gifford Pinchot realized this when he first advocated construction of a government railroad to transport our products to the coast.

Protected Natural Resources.

The people of the United States should be as interested in the development of the coal fields of Alaska as Alaskans themselves, because the coal which will be mined will go a long way toward supplying the United States Navy with fuel and also toward providing a supply for the people of the Pacific coast who now have to depend largely upon purchases of coal which is imported from British Columbia.

Mr. Pinchot has always joined in supporting those men at whose instance efforts have been made to protect the wonderful fisheries of Alaska which, since the time of purchase of the territory in 1867 have given to this country products valued at nearly $185,000,000. Several years ago Mr. Pinchot, when in Alaska, called attention to the need for the application of the principles of conservation to the fishing industry.

He had in mind particularly one of the herring fisheries where for a number of years a company had been engaged in manufacturing fertilizer from the herring which is a valuable food fish and the supply of which is dwindling. At the same time that herring were being used for fertilizer in Alaska thousands of tons of fish refuse from the salmon canneries was wasted and poured unused into the sea.

Our people have been interested in Mr. Pinchot's efforts to encourage the development and wise use of Alaska's resources and it is through the support of broad minded men like him, both in and out of the Congress of the United States, that there is now promise that in the next few years there will begin a new era in the development and conservation of all the vast resources of the territory.

PENROSE MAKING RECORD AS "ABSENTEE" SENATOR

Washington, D. C., June 24.—Much comment is being caused here by Senator Penrose's continual absence from the senate. Penrose frequently boasted that he was always present representing his constituents. This year he is the one notable absentee in the senate. He has scarcely been present at half a dozen sessions, and has been absent from committee meetings during the time important legislation has been considered.

He was not present to vote on the Panama Canal question and has sidestepped many other important votes.

PINCHOT PLANS TO VISIT EASTERN COUNTIES NEXT

Gifford Pinchot, Washington party candidate for the United States Senate, will resume his automobile tour of the state June 25. Mr. Pinchot will visit eastern counties, where he will meet the voters and discuss the issues.

Fifteen counties in all have already been visited by Pinchot and in every one of them the Washington party candidate was given a big reception and his declaration that he was going to beat Penrose received with enthusiasm.

The Bottle Tree.

The Sterculias is a genus largely represented in Queensland, and widely distributed. To it belongs the bottle tree of the west of Queensland. Blacks eat the seeds of one of the species of the coast, and in the Philippines those of apparently a closely allied species are considered wholesome when roasted or boiled, though eaten in large quantities. The tree belongs to a good family, being related to the Theobroma (food of the gods), which supplies the world with cocoa and chocolate. When the fruit splits open it is a brilliant scarlet with orange-tinted interior; along the parted edges are the seeds, oval and black, covered with a rich purple bloom. The fruit, being tough and leathery, it remains on the tree a long time, forming a most effective display in the gloom of the jungle.

Milk Sterilized by Electricity.

Milk sterilized by electricity, the microbes being killed by electric shocks, is being supplied from the Liverpool corporation milk depots to about a thousand babies daily. The advantage said to be gained over sterilization by steam is that the milk tastes the same as when it leaves the cow. It is said that all contamination is removed.

INVITE VILLA TO SEND DELEGATES

Peace Envoys May Ignore Carranza Entirely.

MAP OUT NEW PROGRAM.

Every Effort Now Being Made to Prolong Peace Conference—Armistice Seems Necessary to Permit Rebel Representation at Niagara Falls, but This May Be Overcome.

Niagara Falls, June 23.—Ignoring Carranza entirely by sending a direct invitation to General Villa to name delegates to attend the peace conference was admitted a possibility when the peace sessions were resumed for another week's work. Obviously without an armistice, the Constitutionalists cannot be admitted to full participation in the discussion, but will enter to talk over the international phases that naturally arise.

Hope to Prolong Conference.

Washington, June 23.—President Wilson and his advisers took up the new course of action proposed by the South American envoys designed to prolong the mediation conference. It is the hope of an eventual settlement of the Mexican problem. Notwithstanding Carranza's reiterated objections to a discussion of the republic's international affairs, the mediators, it was said, had not given up hope of bringing the Constitutionalists into touch with the Niagara conference.

Confirmation was awaited here of reports that the United States had invited Villa to send his representatives to Niagara Falls to confer with the American delegates. The latter would transmit to the mediators and the Huerta delegates the views of the Constitutionalists. That could be done, it was suggested, without the need of an armistice.

News of the renewed attack on Zacatecas was closely watched here. Revolutionary agents were rejoicing over reports that in fighting their forces had taken three federal positions, evidently outside the main defense. Some confirmation of statements that Villa and Carranza had patched up their differences was seen in denials from Torreon that Villa had proclaimed General Angeles provisional president. "Nothing has been further from my mind," Villa was quoted as declaring. In telegrams exchanged between Villa and Carranza's confidential agent on the border the former was reported to have asserted that no differences existed between himself and "the first chief" and that he proposed to prevent such a crisis "because of the needs of the country."

IDENTIFY HEADLESS GIRL

First Clue to Mystery of Finding of Torso in River.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 23.—Mrs. William Faust went to the morgue and examined the pink skirt that was found wrapped about the torso of the Mohawk river murder victim. After a careful examination the mother said that it was identical with one worn by her daughter, Teresa Faust, previously reported as Lulu Faust, who disappeared with Miss Jessie Bellare after being seen at Dolly park with two men.

The skirt was of a cheap variety, and Mrs. Faust was sure that her daughter wore a similar skirt when she went away from home. Efforts were doubled to find the head of the victim when the police were informed that the torso discovered near Scotia bridge had been identified by Burt Francesco of Albany street as that of Miss Lulu Faust, who disappeared five weeks ago.

STONEVILLE.

There will be a church festival at Stoneville church, Saturday night, June 27. Everybody welcome.

The Stoneville baseball team went to Bigler Saturday and was defeated by the score of 14 to 15. The feature of the game was a triple play by Stoneville in the first inning.

Saturday evening, on arriving home from the ball game, George Wolstencroft was surprised to find quite a number of his friends and relatives gathered to celebrate his birthday. A delightful supper was served and after supper a dance was held. Every body reported a good time.

Fred E. Shugarts has arrived home from Lock Haven, where he has been attending the Central State normal.

Wava and Earl Shugarts, of Bigler, are visiting their grand-parents, Squire and Mrs. George B. Shugarts. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, of Glen Richey, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wisor over Sunday.

The Stoneville ball team will play the strong team of Wallacetown on Saturday, June 27, at Wallacetown.

Prof. Nels E. Peterson, of Bucknell university, was visiting friends in town today. Prof. Peterson was formerly principal of the Mahaffey school.

Card of Thanks.

I take this means of extending my heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly proffered their help and sympathy during the illness, death and burial of my late beloved mother. I shall not forget these many kindnesses.
